

BOOK CLUB

The Temple Sinai Book Club, open to Temple members and non-members, meets for stimulating discussions of fiction and non-fiction books. Members choose the books and lead the discussions. The only criterion for the books is Jewish relevance.

Meeting time is 11:30 AM on the following future dates: December 19th, February 20th, and April 15th.

Here is a list of books read recently.

A memoir: "The Wrong Kind of Jew: A Mizrahi Manifesto" by Hen Mazzig

A contemporary novel: "The Prison Minion" by Jonathan Stone

Non-fiction: "American Shtetl: The Making of Kiryas Joel" by Nomi Stolzenberg and David N. Myer

Historical fiction novels: "Defending Britta Stein" by Ronald Balson, "The Little Liar" by Mitch Albom, and "The Tattooist of Auschwitz" by Heather Morris

Coming Sept. 19 "Pastrami on Rye: An Overstuffed History of the Jewish Deli", by Ted Merwin, and on Dec 19 "Hotel Cuba" by Aaron Hamburger
